Entrepreneurship Training for Young Girls Comes to Arlington County Virginia-based SheEO™ Academy is Awarded a New Vendor Contract

February 1, 2019 – Arlington, VA – Amazon isn't the only company coming to Arlington County. SheEO™ Academy is a new contract vendor with Arlington County Parks and Recreation. The first camps will be offered this summer in Arlington County. Instructors from SheEO™ Academy and Camps will attend the Arlington County Summer Activities Fair (hosted by Arlington Public Schools) scheduled for February 8, 2019 at Kenmore Middle School from 6p-8p.

SheEO™ Academy, the entrepreneurship and business leadership programs for girls ages 6-16, was founded by entrepreneur, professor and business coach, DeShawn Robinson-Chew, in response to a lack of exposure for girls in creating and running their own businesses. SheEO™ Academy offers classes, camps and coaching in business creation, professional etiquette, financial literacy and more.

For more information on how to enroll your daughter, granddaughter or niece in to the SheEO™ Academy, Camp SheEO™ or to schedule an interview with Mrs. Robinson-Chew, send an email inquiry to contact@beasheeo.com or call (866) 69-She-EO.

About SheEO™ Academy

The mission of She-EO®, LLC is to provide tools and training to help young ladies lead and succeed in business and in life. Because even though women are starting more businesses, they are not GROWING their businesses, they are not receiving INVESTMENT equal to their male-owned counterparts and they are not invited to lead company boards nor are being PAID their fair share.
